The image shows the exterior of a restaurant named 'salitre'. The name is displayed in a large, white, serif font on a dark red, oval-shaped sign. The sign is mounted on a light yellow wall. Above the sign, there are two windows with white frames, each with a red planter box containing green plants. Below the sign, there is a large, ornate metal gate with intricate scrollwork. The gate is set within a white frame. On either side of the gate, there are windows with white frames and black bars. The overall appearance is that of a classic, possibly historic, building.
